SENIORS

Kuecks and Bass Guide Seniors Through '74

With the closing of another year Lansdowne bids farewell to another class. During the three years at Lansdowne, the Class of '74 had many fond memories. Memories of the Sophomore Dance "Aquarius After Hours", the Junior Ring Ceremony "You Wear It Well" and the Junior Prom "Stairway to Heaven" climaxed the first two years of the Class of 74.

In the Senior year at Lansdowne Seniors were given opportunities in various learning experiences. Programs such as work-study, released time and a new Independent Research Study (IRS) were offered to Seniors. Activities such as Senior Follies "Super Satire '74", Senior Week, and the Prom and Graduation called for seniors participation. On June 6, the Seniors were brought together at Catonsville Community College for their commencement ceremonies. Without the help of the advisors Mr. Paul Kuecks, Mrs. Aviva Mrazik and Miss Chana Bass, the Class of '74 would have never gotten this far.

In November elementary school students from Featherbed Lane Elementary School visited the Advanced Science class. The purpose of this experiment, directed by Mr. Kopelson, was to acquaint the younger students with high school science facilities as well as school life. In return, the Lansdowne students visited Featherbed Lane Elementary School in February to participate in that science class.

Most Seniors have attended only four schools, and these have been located in the Baltimore area. Harry Plummer is different since he has attended schools as far away as Tunesia, Africa and the Dominican Republic. In Harry's fathers profession as a foreign technician, Harry has had the benefits of following his father around Europe. While traveling from country to country, Harry has had the advantages of meeting many different people of different life styles in many schools.

The Company is a group of drama students who perform repertoire theater wherever they are invited. This year The Company under the direction of Mrs. Warsofsky performed in many elementary and junior high schools of Baltimore County, at Wilde Lake High School in Columbia and at the Regional Drama Festival in an original production "Crises: A Human Event." Two of the members of the ensemble are Cindy Callahan and George Jones.

Much work goes into putting a yearbook together. A theme must be chosen, a cover designed, layouts drawn, and copy written. Also, the staff and the advisor must make sure that this yearbook is unique and different for the Class of 1974. The editor-in-chief is Joanne Troccoli and the advisor is Ms. Bartholomew.

Seniors Shine

HIGH SCHOOL

HAPPENINGS

LHS Gets Welcomed by Dance

"The dance introduced new students to the social life at Lansdowne."

"The dance enlives the school's spirit and brightens up a Friday night."

"I was really having a good time." Darlene Eckles

"I had a lot of fun." Dee Solman

Above: "I felt like dancing to the music." Julia Arrogancia Right: "I got tired from dancing so much."

Below: "I had a great time." Darlene Frazier Right: "I really liked the songs."

LHS Students Prove Academic Ability

"We were very pleased that many people in the Lansdowne area, in Baltimore County, and in the state got to watch our two victories and to see what quality students we have at Lansdowne."

"I was honored to have been associated with such fine team members." Glenn Meyers

"I was proud to have helped spread Lansdowne High's academic reputation." Roger Keehner

"I felt proud to have been involved in Lansdowne's victories." Bob Kelly

"Mrs. Boyer and I were very impressed with the hard work and dedication shown by our team in their preparation for It's Academic." Mr. Harmeyer

Toys For Tots Is Big Success

"Every year the Toys for Tots drive is a great amount of work for the Toys for Tots committee. They must put on an assembly and publicize the drive for toys. But if one child can be made happier because of the drive, all the work was worth it."

"Vroom . . . Look out." Rose Stoltzenbach

"I always seem to get the heavy work." Mr. Lucas

Above: "I was glad I could help." Joyce Dorsey Below: "I kept telling Pat Perkins to 'Shut up'." Debbie Sellers

Above: "The whole idea of Toys for Tots is a wonderful one." Paula Sadler Below: "It gets hectic, but it's all for a good cause." Miss Flater

UNDERCLASSMEN

Juniors Bottle Their Time

As the 1973-74 year began, so did the exciting chain of events for the Junior class. One of the long awaited nights was January 10, 1974 when the Juniors received their rings at the ring ceremony. This was followed by a dance where everyone jived to the heavy sound of Kotton. On May 4, 1974 the Juniors made the scene at the prom. Jim Croce's "Time in a Bottle" set the mood while the Juniors and their dates rocked to the heavy sound of Staggerwing.

The Junior Class Officers are: B. Wieczorek, (president), Mr. Newby (advisor), L. Thurston (secretary), D. Myers (treasurer), Ms. Bartholomew (advisor).

Bonnie Allen's phone conversation takes up her free time.

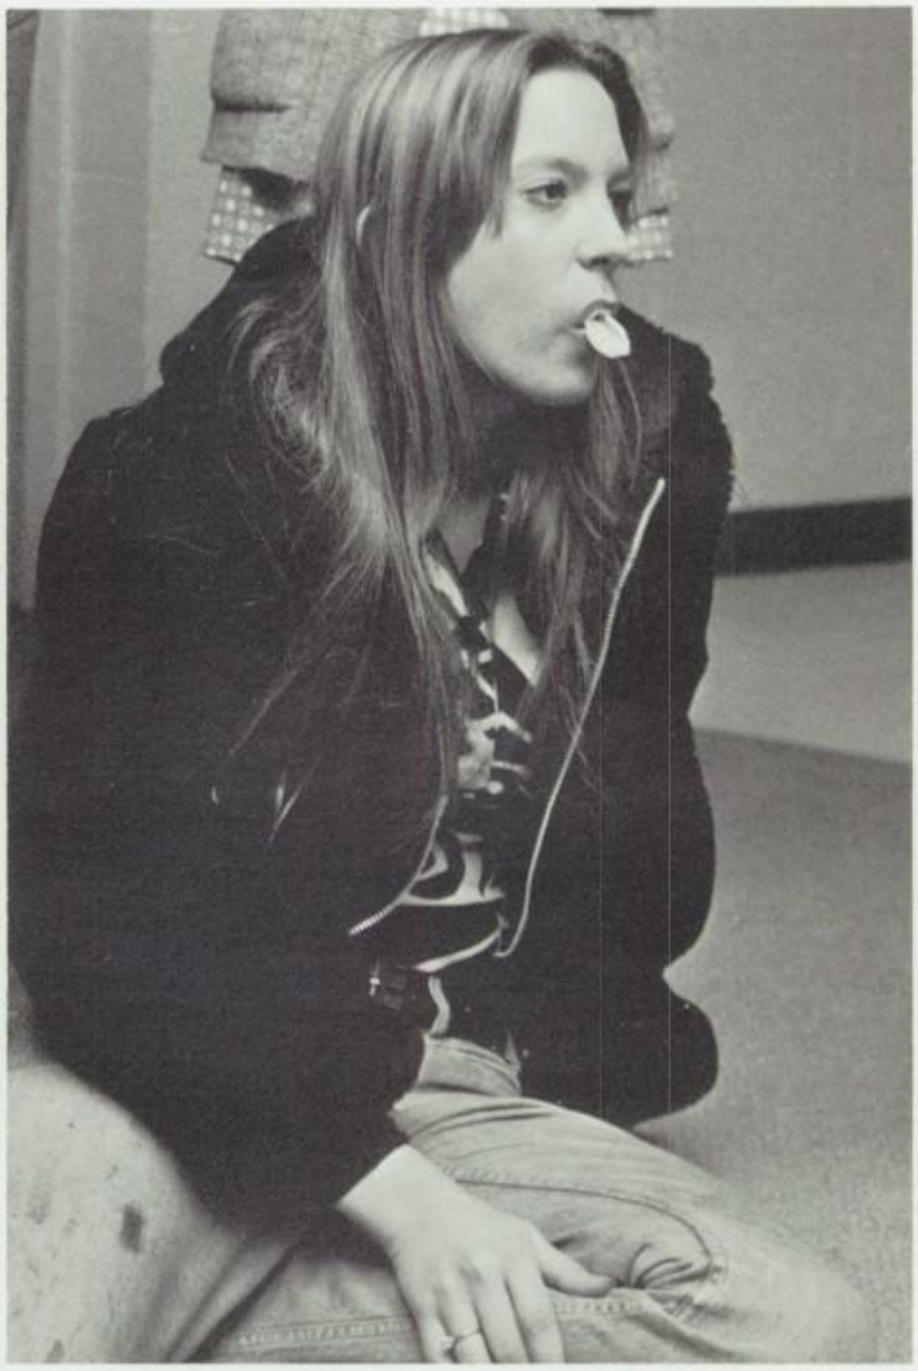
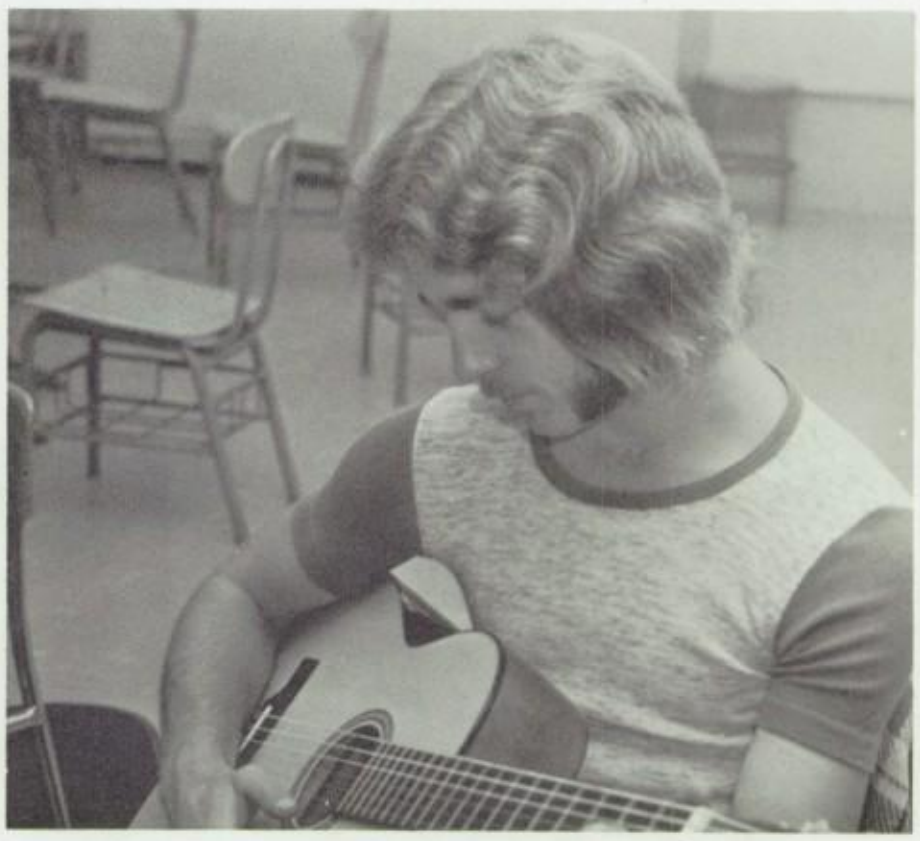
The Members of the Junior Class Steering Committee are: First Row: L. Franz, M. Lawrence, V. Arca, A. Arrogancia, P. Baker, C. Seim, D. Simmon, Ms. Bartholomew. Second Row: S. Redman, D. Boes, J. DeBoy, P. Sadler, S. Kick, C. Bartholow, S. Silanskis, J. Gartrell, L. Thurston, M. Miracle, T. Ashby, J. Harryman, L. McGaig. Third Row: C. Shea, D. Nooe, G. Sadowski, S. Young, B. Wieczoreck, C. James, J. Strine, B. Kramer, T. Kramer, S. Roper, D. Mehrling, L. McGaig.

Cindy Oleszesuk has trouble with her Spanish lesson.

Above: Her flowering plants has proved Jeannine McGee has a green thumb.
Below: Ron Deegan smiles proudly as he molds a ceramic pot.



Dee Degen believes bubble gum blowing is a part of drama.



Music comes easily from the hands of Dale White.
